

How well do you know the Sustainable Development Goals?

Introduction

Provide an overview of the 17 Sustainable Development Goals using the resources available. Perhaps ask the young people about their understanding of 'sustainability' and encourage them to think about the wider goals beyond climate change.

Research

Ask each of the Young STEM Leaders to choose three of the 17 Sustainable Development Goals that feel most important to them. For each goal, they should research work that is currently being done to progress this goal and by who. They should also consider how they might be able to support work that is currently being done and think about any ideas they have beyond this.

You could always assign goals using the Wheel Spinner.

Regroup and share findings

Facilitate a discussion and encourage Young STEM Leaders to share their findings.

Going further

- Ask the young people to design an activity that can allow them to share their learnings with the wider school.
- Encourage the group to consider how the Sustainable Development Goals could be embedded within leadership.
